

MANAGED SERVICES

Moody International is a leading global supplier of technical inspection services, management system certification, technical staffing services, as well as technical training.

Moody International has a particularly strong presence in the global energy, engineering and construction markets, where its proven ability to respond effectively to the demands of a rapidly changing business environment has secured major contracts with leading international companies.

The challenges

Procurement and construction projects are complex and often include fragmented disciplines involving multiple parties and cost centres.

Complications can arise under various circumstances -fluctuating staffing requirements, the need to manage risk, uncertain global supply-chains and increasingly onerous legislative demands.

All of this can result in inherent inefficiencies and, in the worst case scenario, open-ended projects that overrun in terms of both time and budget.

Progressive businesses are constantly scrutinising projects; seeking opportunities to increase profit through improved efficiencies.

A strategic approach to procurement and construction management

Moody's core competencies are concentrated in the following areas:

- Product knowledge
- Supplier knowledge
- Market knowledge
- Auditing
- Procurement
- Inspection
- Expediting
- Management system certification

Drawing on the depth and breadth of the company's expertise, Moody International's Managed Service solution is a tailored package that affects the smooth transfer of management responsibility for procurement related activities and construction projects to the managed service provider.

This enlightened business approach opens up compelling cost saving opportunities enabling the redirecting of valuable resources to focus on the organisation's core business objectives.

MANAGED SERVICES

Tangible benefits

Moody's Managed Services promise to deliver sustainable, ongoing supply-chain improvements, resulting in a number of benefits for the clients.

Improved performance and results by:

- Increased efficiency and value in the procurement process
- No need for large infrastructure investments
- Minimal business risk
- Efficient management of fluctuating staffing requirements
- Improved information availability for planning and decision making
- More efficient use of internal resources
- Ability to involve local personnel with detailed knowledge of local conditions

A solution as unique as your business

Moody's Managed Services are available to all clients and are flexible; combining only the necessary elements of the services the clients need to improve performance and achieve optimum results.

Whether your requirement is for a complete turnkey solution or a smaller scale support package targeted at specific areas of need, Moody is confident it can improve efficiency and add value to your equipment procurement process.

Understanding that every company and every project is unique, no two Managed Services packages are ever the same.

Moody's Managed Services include some or all of the following elements:

- Identification of potential suppliers
- Auditing/Short list of suppliers
- Pre-award surveys
- ITP/MPS approval
- Pre-production meetings
- Technical support
- Post award management

comprising:

- Expediting
- Auditing
- Personnel supply
- Problem resolution
- Inspection
- Site supervision services
- Training

